National Award Winners

by Nancy Landrum and Sharon Hendricks

Two of our Chapter members have been selected by Hearing Loss Association of America (HLAA) to receive awards for their contributions to the organization. The awards will be presented at the annual HLAA Convention to be held on June 20-23 in Rochester, New York.

Sylvia Frank will receive the “Spirit of HLAA” award. She is being recognized for her various activities, including opening and closing our meeting place twice each month, being a weekly volunteer in the Hearing Helpers Demonstration Room, participating in the annual Senior Cabaret production which raises funds for hearing aids for senior citizens, and representing our Chapter at national Conventions.

Ana Covey will receive the “Get in the Hearing Loop Campaign” award for her efforts in establishing the Oklahoma Hearing Loop Initiative. Ana has an understanding about the hidden disability of hearing loss and is working to open more venues that are hearing accessible through hearing loops. Currently, Oklahoma City's Civic Center is looped, providing a wide variety of entertainment that is now available for people with hearing loss. Two City Council chambers are looped, three churches in Oklahoma and a movie/opry theatre! She loves when her fellow Hearing Loss chapter members advocate for better hearing opportunities and refer that information to her.

Free Hearing Screenings!

Submitted by Nancy Landrum

Free hearing screenings are available at two local audiology clinics. Gift of Sound at the Hough Ear Institute and Hearts for Hearing both will perform hearing screenings, by appointment. Hearing screenings detect whether there may be a hearing loss concern that should be followed by a hearing test by an audiologist of your choice to determine the severity of loss. Hearing tests are more in-depth and detailed than screenings.

Gift of Sound conducts hearing screenings by appointment only. Although Hearts for Hearing will accept walk-ins for hearing screenings, they prefer you make an appointment. There is no charge for hearing screenings. There will be a charge for hearing tests.

Let's Celebrate Our Hearing Technology!

February 26, 2019, Gael Hannan

I admit that the event crept up on me; I didn't even know it was "a thing". But on February 25th, when dozens of posts and tweets jumped out at me bearing the hashtag #cochlearimplantday, I sat up and took notice. After decades of hearing aid use, I had never expected to be a cochlear implant recipient, yet here I am, two years since activation.

But cochlear implants deserve more than a single day of recognition. The innovation, the science and the passionate people who have created such miraculous advancements deserve a loud and lasting round of applause.

We should shout hooray, for the incredible hearing technology which brings sound into our world, making it rounder, fuller. The stigma of hearing loss is wearing off rapidly and we no longer have to feel shame. (Mind you, not everyone has read this memo yet!)

Where have we come from, technology-wise? A hand cupped behind the ear would have been the first attempt at hearing better. In medieval times, people used animal horns to collect sound to help them hear, which eventually led to the specifically designed ear trumpet. Then came modern technology with electronic hearing aids and since then, hearing technology has hurtled into the future, with no end in sight of what seems like daily new discoveries.

Let's be grateful for every advancement that our hearing scientists make, as they build on previous knowledge. The latest and greatest might not always impact us personally, but it will support someone, somewhere, who is a hearing aid user or a cochlear implant candidate/recipient. #
